I am aware there is a lack of understanding, which is why I've carefully attempted to explain what is happening over the course of the last seven emails that I have sent you. Again,

Your client was not given an NTA as her assessment was negative; there is no NTA to provide you with. As far as the CAT assessment, I have already shared what I am able to. You must contact USCIS for anything beyond what I have already given you. You have been asking USCIS for documents that do not exist (documentation of a "credible fear interview" instead of a "CAT interview"), and that could possibly be a reason why they have not been able to provide you with documentation for your client's case.

ICE can be of no further help to you in this context.

I don't understand that you are "limited as what you can send" we are the attorneys of record for Ms. Fatemeh. If no credible fear interview/assessment was done, send us the CAT interview/assessment and a copy of the NTA.

She has been in custody since February and you have no documents to share with us.

Seriously this is unacceptable.

Please share with us the documents that you can share.

I am limited as to what I can send you. That is all I am able to provide. You will have to contact USCIS for any more documentation.

Once again, it is not a "credible fear" interview/assessment. It is a CAT assessment. Its likely that USCIS has been unable to answer your questions because you've been asking if they have a record of your client's "credible fear" interview/assessment, which they don't, because your client was never given a credible fear interview. A CAT interview/assessment was done on your client.

Good morning Officer Napolitano,

We only received the rejection letter (one page), not a complete copy of the credible fear assessment.

Please send that to us as soon as possible along with a copy of the NTA for Ms. Fatemeh.

Hello,

Can you please send us a copy of the credible fear assessment? USCIS has no record of Ms. Fatemeh being interviewed by them.

We are her attorneys and request a copy of all the documents on her case.

Thank you.
